MITCHEL RAMIREZ

NEEDS YOUR HELP!!

For those of you who have not met or maybe even know this little boy.

Mitch has Acute Lymphoblastic Leukemia (ALL) as a whole is the most common type of cancer in children. There are different types of ALL- B cell, T cell, Infant etc. Mitch unfortunately has T- cell lineage (the “fighter” WBC line)

Mitch is currently taking 3 oral chemotherapy medications daily and goes to the hospital once a month for a spinal tap with chemotherapy injected into his spine and chemotherapy injected into his port, which is located in his chest. Little Mitch is in his 18th month of treatment and is trying to stay very strong and positive. Mitch is facing at least another 2 years of treatment if everything goes according to the treatment plan. Last year he missed out on everything.

Mitch had several hospital admissions that lasted over a week. There were more blood transfusions and platelet transfusions than Mitch’s mom can count. Our hope is that you will help out in any way possible, so that we can financially give them some amount of peace, during everything they are going through.
